

Chapter 9 Grouping of Appraisal Forms

In the revised Performance Management System, the Appraisal forms have been modified. An attempt has been made to make the form simpler and free from complexities. It has also been ensured that the competencies as laid in the form are more in line with the job function of the individual employee. As such, the organization has been divided into various functional groups to ensure that the appraisals reflect the true evaluation of various employees based on their job function.

Each Functional group would have a different Appraisal form and a different weightages attached to the competencies. The same is given in Annexure I.

The functional Grouping is given as under in Table 2.0.
